

Ilya Svetlichnyy
Russian/English Translator

Ilya Svetlichnyy is a native Russian with fluency in Russian and English. He was born and raised in eastern Russia. During his time in Russia, Ilya began English lessons at a young age and learned it along with the complexities of the Russian language. He also has traveled several times to the major cities of Russia's economic and cultural activity, including Moscow and St. Petersburg.

For the past 10 years, Ilya has been living, studying, and working in the United States. His U.S. studies have included receiving an American High School Diploma, an Associate Degree in Web Development, and he is currently enrolled at San Diego State University pursuing a degree in finance.

Presently, Ilya works with financial and legal documents and conducts business in both English and Russian. Ilya is able to provide culturally-relevant translations as he thinks and lives in both languages.
